

Canadian Society for Exercise Physiology Fellow Designation

2018 Nomination Information

Introducing the CSEP Fellow designation

Dear members,

It is with great pleasure that I announce the new CSEP Fellow designation. This distinguished designation will recognize members for their leadership and contributions to CSEP.

Over the past 50 years, members have been the strength of our organization actively leading CSEP's development and growth. CSEP Fellowship will recognize leaders in our society who have inspired excellence among members or been bridge-builders, strengthening the relationship between academic and professional members. Future CSEP Fellows will inspire the next generation of volunteers to actively lead our society.

I encourage you to read the full nomination details and nominate a fellow Academic or Certified CSEP member on or before July 1, 2018. In its inaugural year, up to five members will be bestowed with the CSEP Fellow designation.

We look forward to honouring the first CSEP Fellows for their leadership contributions at the CSEP 2018 banquet in Niagara Falls this November.

Sincerely,

Panagiota (Nota) Klentrou
Chair, Canadian Society for Exercise Physiology

About the CSEP Fellow designation

CSEP Fellowship is a recognition of an academic or certified member's contributions to CSEP. This recognition is independent of contributions to the member's field of research.

Recipients of this honour will be members who have provided service to the Society in a manner that provided significant or consistent impact to the membership, as well as strengthening the ability of the Society to deliver its mission.

CSEP Fellows aim to inspire future contributions from members to continue to strengthen the society and its impact on Canadians.
